

Jeremy Hessing-Lewis

Jeremy Hessing-Lewis

LL.B. Candidate, Faculty of Law, University of Ottawa

Jeremy

is a second year student in the English Common Law program at the University of Ottawa. Before arriving in the bureaucratic heartland, Jeremy spent 5 years in preparatory school at Queen's University completing a BaH in Philosophy and Computer Science as well as an MSc in Information Systems at the London School of Economics. During this time, Jeremy worked with Creative Commons England & Wales and is now a member of the Creative Commons Canada team. Somewhere along the way, Jeremy developed a healthy scepticism of information technology.

He joined the On the Identity Trail project in Winter 2006.

Research:

- Copyright and DRM
- RFID and biometric identification

Research

.:id trail mix:.

Authentic[N]ation: A short story on the ID Trail

A Flickr of Web 2.0